

Dear Refirement members

It is the beginning of July. Where has the first half of the year gone? Life is hectic filled with fun, purpose and work. The balance of these three elements is not always easy but should always be on your radar.

I have added some rotating banners on the homepage of the website, clearly defining what Refirement Network offers. Take a few minutes to read them: <https://www.refirementnetwork.com>

The world of work has changed significantly and looking for work of any kind can be depressing. I receive so many calls and emails from members who are looking for work. I am in the process of writing an E Book to address this challenge. Each of us needs to take ourselves on a navigation journey to discover where we could be used, what we would love to do and where our skills could be useful. This article was in the Sunday Times last week and may challenge you to try some new ways to spread the word about what you can do. <http://www.timeslive.co.za/specialreports/eachonehireone/2012/06/25/tools-to-use-when-hunting-for-a-job>

This month's story of how someone has changed their life with significance for a second career is close to my heart. Small children in this country are vulnerable and in need of care and champions. Rieneke is a champion for children in the inner city of Pretoria. Take the time to read her story. It will challenge you to try and discover your own second career.

The journey of life begins with one step. Take that one step today! Blessings -
Lynda

Tell us your story...

Coaching program
12 powerful questions to navigate your

We have added a link on the home page called; tell us your story. If you have changed direction, are doing something interesting or would just like to share your story, please take the time to click on this link and share.

We will read through the stories and contact you should we want to write up your story. The more stories we share of how ordinary people are doing exciting and life changing work, the more we inspire others to do the same.

Refirement Story...

Rieneke Schutte spent most of her 20's, 30's and 40's raising her children and selling Tupperware. Her aim was to sell Tupperware while at home with her children with the view to getting a 'real job' when they were a little bigger.

However, her direct selling business grew until she became a team manager, responsible for selling and training up others, earning her a good salary for 21 years.

Selling and working with the same product for 21 years eventually became somewhat boring, with few challenges left to overcome, so Rieneke decided to start her own business from home, but none of the ideas became a success. After her youngest child left home Rieneke suffered from 'empty nest syndrome' and she knew she needed to do something about it. She had always been interested in and involved in some way with community work and she felt she wanted to get more involved and give back to her local community in Pretoria. - Read more online

Social Networking

Contact Lynda Smith |

+27 (0) 82 490 2822 | lynda@refirementnetwork.com

journey. Read more online

Book of the Month

The Second-Half Adventure By Kay Marshall Strom

